Dear hiring manager,

It is a pleasure to introduce you to Pablo Nicolás Lacioppa, who had been working as part of our tech team since 2018. First, he joined the company as an employee and ten months later, he decided to become an external consultant.

During our first time together, Pablo was committed to helping our team with every milestone we had, no matter how difficult it was or how much time was needed to achieve it.

After becoming a consultant, he gained enough experience to improve even more his technical skills as well as his knowledge of the business. Since then, he has performed a deeper role in this company with a high level of responsibility, critical thinking, and dedication.

Pablo has proved not only to be a capable developer and a good leader but also a reliable worker with the ability to understand the management needs.

In case you need further information, do not hesitate to contact me at (+54) 9 11 2566-2630 or by email at nmancini@koppengroupltd.com. I would be happy to share more details about him.

Sincerely,

Nicolas Mancini
